Bills Pending on Colleges Have Not Been Heard

MONEY BILL SOON

Hill Plans to Attend Important Hearings of Committees

President J. A. Hill will not attend the meeting of the committee tonight in the House of Representatives which will hear the bills introduced to increase the tuition in the Texas colleges. Owing to the distance to Austin, Dr. Hill believed it was not necessary for him to make the trip for the hearing.

Dr. Hill has filed with the committee his objections to the increase in tuition. Most of the state college presidents agree that a very great increase in tuition would greatly handicap the usefulness of the colleges to the young people of the state, and they have therefore taken a stand opposed to a great increase in the tuition fees.

No date has been set for a hearing before the House Appropriations committee. Dr. Hill is expecting a call from the committee during the coming week. The committee has been working on other bills and have recommended a reduction of approximately 25 percent through the bills. Teachers colleges have agreed to this reduction, and it is anticipated that the bills will be passed out of the House Committee along this line. The Senate Finance committee has already recommended the educational appropriations bill, which calls for a reduction of 25 percent.

The hearing on the House bill by Anderson, Hughes and Metcalf which seeks to lower the standing of the Teachers Colleges has been postponed until March 13th. Dr. Hill will attend this hearing, which will probably consume several days. Judge J. D. Hamlin, representative of the Chamber of Commerce, is at his home in Farwell this week looking after personal business. He is expected to come to Canyon today or tomorrow to talk over the situation with Dr. Hill and officers of the Chamber of Commerce.

Boys Arrested by Federal Officers on Counterfeit Charge

Four Randall county boys were arrested Saturday by federal officers and the sheriff's department charged with passing counterfeit silver dollars. Several business firms are said to have received these dollars, which are easily distinguished from real silver dollars. A federal secret service operator was here Monday, securing a statement from two of the young men, while the other two were placed under $1,000 bonds.

Newspapers Lead In Advertising

A very informative survey was recently made by the Better Business Bureau of Tulsa, Okla. who conducted an exhaustive inquiry into the various forms of advertising used in these modern days, among its citizens. Over 1,000 letters were received. In answer to the question: "What form of advertising influences you most in making your purchases?" 817 or 80 1/2 per cent stated that newspapers were the best medium; 1 1/2 per cent said billboards; 10 1/2 per cent said radio; 1 per cent said house to house circulars and not a single one approved of automobile cards and circulars. Out of thirty business executives queried, nineteen said newspapers were the best advertising mediums and they obtained the best results from their use; only three of the thirty believed in house to house circulars and only two in direct mail advertising.

Out of people answering the questionnaire 778 said they read only 12 1/2 per cent of the cards and circulars received. The majority of those answering the bureau's queries stated that the practice of distributing circulars from house to house was annoying and should be stopped by law.

"Advertising by calling on the phone is rank," said one. "Nothing is more infuriating than to drop everything and run to the phone and find it is only a business firm soliciting business."

The bureau simply gathered the data; submitted it without comment to the Tulsa business firms for their information.

Two men were pitted against Fortenberry most of the game, but even this did not keep the big center. (Continued on last page.)

Light Snow and Rain Falls Over Plains on Sunday

The Panhandle country was visited Sunday by the first snow and rain since December. The moisture for the snow and rain amounted to only .20 of an inch, but was followed by warm days. The wheat in various parts of the country is reported to greened up considerably since the top moisture came.

The county as a whole is needing a heavy rain, grain dealers report. It is believed that the wheat has been cut about 20% by the dry weather and high winds of January and February. However, there seems to be a fairly good deep moisture in most parts of the county. If sufficient rain is received to keep down the usual March winds it is predicted even at this time that the wheat yield of the county should be very good for 1933.

FRANK HAYS IS FINED $100 IN COUNTY COURT

Refused to Issue Warrant to Search House

HAYS WILL APPEAL

No Action Taken in Re-signation Justice of Peace

Frank Hays was tried in County Court Friday before a jury which found him guilty of refusing to do his official duty, and assessed the penalty of $100. Motion for a new trial was filed. If this motion is overruled, Hays will likely appeal the case.

Hays is justice of the peace in Precinct No. 4. He was arrested on a complaint by Bob Barnett when Hays refused to issue a search warrant asked for by the Sheriff. It was necessary for the Sheriff to bring District Judge Henry S. Bishop over the line into Randall county to secure the search warrant. When taken before the district attorney, Hays filed his resignation as justice of the peace, but the next day requested that it be cancelled. As a result, the Commissioners Court did not act upon either the resignation or the cancellation at the last meeting.

Asks Citizens to Lock Their Homes

A number of homes have been entered during the past week. Only small items have been taken, according to officers.

It is believed that small boys have been responsible for these petty thefts, and that they may be checked if citizens will take more care in seeing that their doors are locked and windows securely fastened before they leave home.

Several petty thefts were reported the past week to the sheriff's department, but fortunately no items of great value were missing.

Local Committee to Fill Out Applications at Once

INFORMATION GIVEN

County Agent Will Assist Farmers With Blanks

Application blanks together with rules and regulations for the crop production loans to be made farmers in 1933 from the Regional Crop Production Loan Office of the R. F. C. have been received by the Randall county committee. Applicants for loans may see either W. C. Black, at the First National Bank, T. C. Thompson at Thompson Hardware Co., or County Agent W. H. Upchurch at the Court House for detailed information regarding applications.

These loans are made to farmers who cannot secure credit elsewhere and are otherwise eligible. To obtain a loan, the applicant must agree to use the money for the purchase of supplies necessary for crop production in 1933 on the land described in the application.

The maximum amount permitted to any one borrower in 1933 is $300.00. To qualify for a loan, borrowers must agree to reduce their acreage of cash crops 30% below their 1932 acreage. As in 1932, a first lien on the 1933 crop is required. Loans are to be repaid on or before Oct. 31, 1933.

The regulations require each borrower to agree to plant a garden for home use and to plant sufficient acreage of feed crops to provide necessary livestock feed. A new regulation this year provides that a borrower may use a part of his loan for the purpose of summer fallowing.

Before making application for a loan a borrower must have the following information in hand:

1. A correct legal description of all land controlled together with acreage to be planted in each crop, also acreage of each crop grown last year.
2. Statement of all indebtedness (check with mortgage records).
3. A list of all livestock and machinery owned (not to be mortgaged).
4. Amount of loan to be used for: (a) seed, (b) feed, (c) fuel, (d) repairs and miscellaneous supplies, etc.
5. Statement of feed, seed and grain on hand.

Farmers who borrowed money from the Secretary of Agriculture last year and for any reason were unable to pay a part of all of the loan, may, if considered worthy, borrow again giving a new mortgage to secure both the old and the new loan. These loans are (Continued on last page.)

Senator Small Says All Counties Face Same Problem

Since it has definitely developed that the 1 cent gasoline tax to pay off the highway bonds and interest of the counties of the state lacks very much of meeting these bills, all of the counties of the state are facing the same problem of meeting the deficit, according to a statement received by Judge S. B. Orton from Senator Clint Small.

The state is calling upon the counties to pay two-thirds of the principal and interest due at this time. The state commission has advised all of the counties to make no provision for the principal and interest this year. Hence all of the counties will probably face the same problem of raising more money than anticipated in their budgets.

Judge Orton stated yesterday that if Randall county was forced to pay the additional $4,125.38 for which no provision had been made, it would cramp the county's finances for this year, and the money would be taken out of some fund which might be able to stand the drain. It has developed that the state was forced to call upon the counties, and therefore there seems to be nothing for the counties to do but pay off.

Queen of College Is Crowned Monday

Miss Mary Helen Hardin And Court Hold Reception.

Establishing what is expected to become a precedent and an annual event in the student activities of W. T. S. T. C., Miss Mary Helen Hardin was crowned "Queen of the College" in a formal coronation ceremony held in the main auditorium here last night. An attentive audience witnessed the elaborate rites and attended the Queen's reception given in the Home Economics receiving chambers afterward.

Her Majesty, the Queen, preceded by four ladies in waiting and their escorts, mounted the stage to the throne attended by four tiny flower girls and two gallant trainbearers. She was tastefully dressed in a white satin evening gown. Her train was of blending colors, blue and silver predominating, beset with beautiful jewels quite fitting the choice of a queen. She carried a large bouquet of white roses.

Miss Yvonne Thomas and her escort, Glenn Bobbitt, were the first of the Queen's court to be announced by Master of Ceremonies Keith Guthrie. They were followed in succession by Miss Mary Martin escorted by Landon Donnell; Miss Roberta La Fon escorted by Hugh Currie; and Miss Mary Jo Gates escorted by C. W. Foote.

With dainty flower girls sprinkling the path before her, Miss Hardin walked sedately down the east center aisle of the Auditorium to mount the stage steps leading to her throne. After appropriate words in commemoration of the occasion, the crown was placed (Continued on last page.)

Museum Will be Received Saturday

Committee From Regents and Society Will Be in Canyon

Officials representing the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and the Board of Regents will be in Canyon on Saturday of this week to receive from the contractor the new museum building.

President T. D. Hobart of Pampa was here Thursday to inspect the building. He expressed great satisfaction over the beauty of the building, and the fact that work was underway to put the floor in the basement. He hoped that subscriptions would be collected so that all of the work could be paid for before dedication. Mr. Hobart appointed Judge H. E. Hoover of Canadian, W. H. Patrick of Clarendon and Mrs. W. T. Coble of Amarillo as a committee to accept the building from the contractors next Saturday.

The Board of Regents recently appointed Henry Paulus of Yoakum, J. E. Josey of Houston and John E. Hill of Amarillo to act in the reception of the building. A telegram from Mr. Paulus Monday indicated that all three would be here Saturday.

Finishing touches are being made on the building this week. Frank Little, general contractor, did not complete his work on last Saturday as planned. Owing to the fact that the basement floor will not be completed for a few days, Mr. Little will have to keep his force here most of the week.

The plans for dedication of the museum on April 14th were discussed with Mr. Hobart while he was here Thursday.

REPEALING PROHIBITION

Ardent prohibitionists were greatly disappointed last week to find that congress had voted to submit the question of repeal of the 18th amendment to the states of the union. Of course, all prohibitionists realize that had they taken more interest in the enforcement of the law as it was written into the constitution, repeal very likely would not have been demanded. Again, the depression has brought a demand for change, and the people without thought of the results are demanding a new order of things in this country.

The anti-prohibitionists have worked a pretty smooth game. The demand for more and more money for enforcement has made the people wonder if prohibition is really worth while. This has been a deadly weapon in the hands of the anti, who are holding out the fact that the country has lost millions in revenues, while paying out other millions for protection, which they say is not effective. Again the anti is disclaiming the wish to have a return of the saloon. However, this is pure bunk, and practically all who are crying out against the repeal of the 18th amendment are hoping for a return of the saloon. If this is not their wish, why do they claim that more liquor is being consumed today than under the old order of things, and why are they saying that liquor may be bought in any town in the United States? If there is plenty of liquor to be had just for the asking, why bother about the repeal of the 18th amendment? No, they wish for a return of the saloons.

Those who lived in saloon towns before the 18th amendment was adopted have only to meditate for a moment and ask themselves whether they wish to see this thing repeated. Prohibition enforcement may not have been as successful as the people would have liked, but the conditions today are nothing to be compared with those existing in saloon days. There are plenty of people who witnessed the terrible conditions of the saloons that do not want to see them returned. A vote in favor of repealing the 18th amendment is nothing more nor less than a vote for the return of the saloon with all of its attending evils.

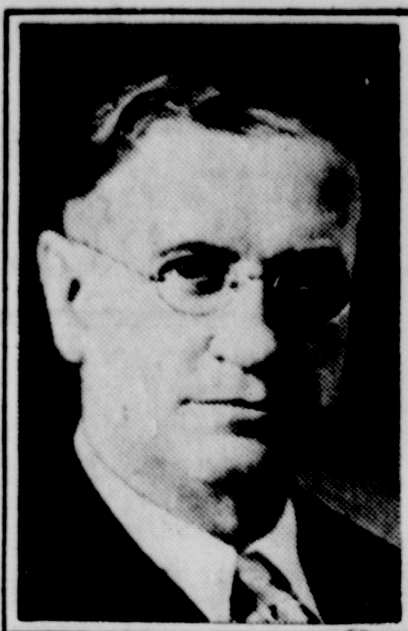

A new order of things will be established in Washington on Saturday of this week when the Democratic party will take full control of the nation's business. No one needs expect a sudden change in conditions. Conditions might even get worse, although most of us wonder how that could be. A bunch of Republicans will have to go to work for a living. Thousands of hungry Democratic office seekers will be awarded, while many thousands more will be disappointed. But the world likes changes these days. It believes in turning the ins out, and watching a new bunch put to work. At least we shall see a new set of names in the daily print as connected with national affairs, and that will give us something new to ponder out.

The selection of cabinet officers by President-elect Roosevelt seems to be meeting popular accord. The president has not picked out the biggest men in the country; these have shown they either do not know what's the matter, or have been unable to present a solution of the problems. But Roosevelt has selected men who seem to be far above the average in experience and intelligence, men who have reputations to make for themselves, rather than men who could ride upon the reputations which have been hitherto established. The country breathes a little easier in ascertaining that all of those selected are conservative in mind and action. That is going to have a lot to do with the solution of present conditions.

The Chamber of Commerce has been receiving a number of checks from out of town people, who own property here. The money is sent in to help Canyon win the fight to retain W. T. A lot of Canyon people have contributed to this cause. If you want to see W. T. retained as a four-year senior college, look up the officers of the Chamber of Commerce and make your contribution. not be carried on without adequate funds.

Brewery stock is being offered over the country. Do not buy the stuff. It is just another scheme to fleece the public, and is on a par with all of the oil stocks, mining stocks and foreign bonds which were offered a few years ago much to the distress of a lot of people who now wish they had their money back. If liquor is to return to America, the average citizen will have no chance to buy stock in any of the financially sound concerns.

What a mess. The further this highway department tangle goes, the more complicated it becomes. The determination of the Fergusons to oust the present highway commission is at the bottom of the charges made that the state has lost two millions of dollars. The case of Denison taking over the chairmanship without a two-thirds vote of the Senate can only lead to a trial in the courts.

The second attempt on the life of Franklin D. Roosevelt within a week's time again calls attention to the terrible drain imposed upon our presidents. None less than a physical and mental giant could possibly live long as President of the United States.

"MY COST OF ELECTRIC SERVICE

is the very least of my worries—for electricity does more household jobs, adds more comfort and convenience to the home than any other item included in the family budget. There was a time when electricity was a luxury, but that time has long since passed. It is now very much a necessity, being vital to my family's health, doing my work, saving valuable time, providing real comfort, and brightening up the home—which incidentally helps a lot toward clearing away the "depression made" gloom so prevalent in homes now.

And the cost,—you scarcely would believe it. About 10 cents a day is all it averages. Would I grumble about that? Well, I should say not!"

Where 61 Died in Gas Blast

The shattered masonry, twisted girders, and crumpled tanks shown above, bear mute testimony to the tremendous force wrought when a huge gas reservoir at Neunkirchen in the Saar District of Germany exploded recently, bringing death to 61 persons. The shock of the explosion caused damage in nearby villages, and the sound of the blast was heard 30 miles away.

"BECAUSE IT'S BETTER"

Merchandise is advertised because it is better—also, it is better because it is advertised.

That is neither a paradox, nor a wise-crack. It is a truism.

Advertising establishes a standard of quality that leads the buyer to expect much, and that impels the maker to measure up to the expectation.

To this extent then, merchandise is advertised not only because it is a better product—but it actually becomes a still better product because it is advertised.

Consistent advertising is the manufacturer's pledge of quality. It is a visible proof that he has faith enough in his product to back it with his name—and with his money.

People know instinctively that a product so sponsored is worthy of their confidence. They prefer it, naturally, to its unheralded, unsung competitor.

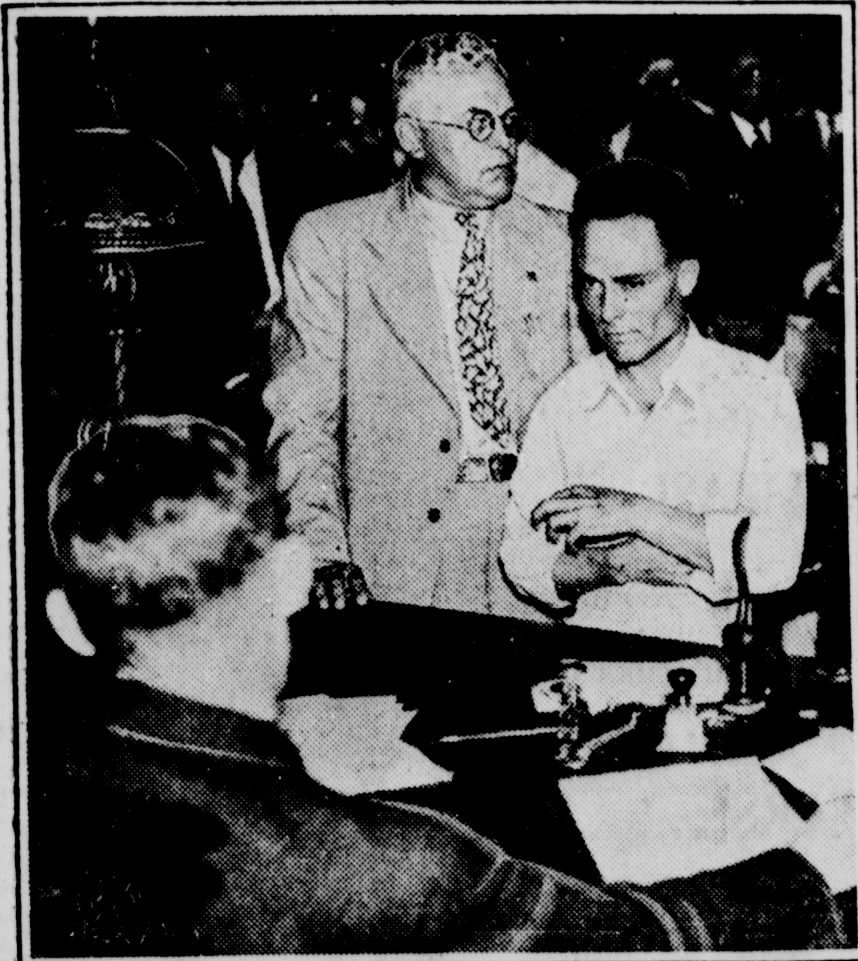

Advertising cannot work miracles. It may sell inferior merchandise for a short time, but it cannot keep on selling it. When you see a store advertising its merchandise by name and price year after year, you know that the store handles reliable merchandise, that its prices are fair, and that its service is competent.

Stores cannot continue to advertise bad bargains, because "advertising doesn't pay" for that kind of merchandise.

Advertising is educational in its influence. It makes it possible for the woman in Canyon or Tuscon or New York to shop with equal confidence, knowing not only what she wants and what it will cost, but what she can expect from it in satisfaction and service.

No time is lost in guessing. The buyer knows from long experience that advertised merchandise must be dependable, or it could not continue to be advertised. You buy with confidence at stores that advertise nationally advertised brands of goods, and you are seldom disappointed.

As Assassin Is Sentenced

Maintaining an outward indifference toward his fate, Giuseppe Zangara, who shot Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago and four others in an attempt to assassinate President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt, is shown above in court at Miami, Fla., just before sentence of 80 years in prison was imposed upon him for his crime. Shortly afterward, when asked what he thought of his sentence, Zangara shrugged his shoulders and said, "It makes no difference—80 years or a hundred. I die in two-three years."

NATIONAL ART EXHIBIT IN CANYON MARCH 7-13

The Phidias Art Club of West Texas State Teachers College is sponsoring the National Scholastic Exhibition of High School Art, according to announcements made by the group this week. The exhibit will be held in the Education Building on West Texas State Teachers College campus, opening Tuesday, March 7 and closing March 13.

This exhibition represents the result of a competition for the scholastic award prizes and fellowship and includes two hundred and fifty items from the more progressive schools of practically every state in the union, Texas included. The items are arranged under the following heads: Pictorial art; sculpture; decorative design; design applied to textiles, print, pattern, jewelry, metal work, and other special groups.

The exhibition is one of the most comprehensive school exhibits ever circulated by the American Federation of Art. It is organized by the Scholastic magazine and selected by a national jury under the joint chairmanship of C. Valentine Kirby and Royal B. Farum. The exhibit comes directly from Simmons University, Abilene, Texas, where it was received with much enthusiasm by not only the school children and students, who received great inspiration from the work, but by the local citizens, as well as people from twenty-five surrounding towns.

The public is invited to inspect this exhibition while it is in Canyon.

88. Grows New Hair, Teeth

Frank J. Crawford, 88-year-old Omaha, Neb., gardener, seems to be getting younger every day. Almost totally bald two years ago, a mysterious fuzz began sprouting on his scalp, and today he has a fairly abundant crop of hair. Likewise, several new teeth are appearing in the back of his mouth. Crawford's only explanation is that it seems to run in his family, an uncle cut 11 teeth at the age of 90.

The Episcopal Church is now entering upon the season of Lent, which is a time of self-denial, self-discipline and spiritual revival, commemorating the forty days of fasting in the wilderness of Our Lord, at the time of His temptation. The Student Lenten offering this year will be to help rebuild the Guild Hall destroyed by tornado at Aguilera, Arizona.

All students, faculty members and other friends of Bishop Seaman, are invited to worship with us and to hear the Bishop next Sunday night at eight o'clock.

STAGE EQUIPMENT AT ZITA RESULT OF PLAYS

The splendid co-operation of the Zita P. T. A. with their teacher, Miss Birda Ann Hastings, is the kind that produces results, as shown by the lovely new curtains and dressing room added to the stage equipment from the proceeds taken in from "Beats on a String," a three-act comedy they have been featuring lately.

This play was given by members of the P. T. A. and Miss Hastings, four times. Once at Lakeside and Brady and twice at Zita. Each time they played to a full house.

The Canyon Novelty Orchestra and the West Texas State Teachers College Orchestra kindly furnished the music, the Canyon Novelty Orchestra playing three of the four times.

J. D. Fowler from Canyon, assisted by members of the P. T. A. gave the negro comedy between acts.

It is a pleasure to work in the Zita community because everyone is so willing to do anything that is asked of them, whether it is to take part in a play, which requires so much of their time, or the use of their cars to furnish transportation for the players, you meet with the same generous response.

Besides "Beats on a String," the P. T. A. has been enjoying some splendid programs and socials all winter.

Next Saturday at P. T. A. meeting the school children will have the try-outs for the Interscholastic Declamation Contest to be held sometime in March.

Baby Speaker Pro Tem.

It was a proud moment for Richard Laird Hopkins when he took the speaker's gavel in the House of Representatives. But it was only a moment because he had hardly time to make his speech of acceptance before he was lifted down. Young Richard, one-year-old rosy-cheeked infant son of Congressman David Hopkins of Mississippi, was placed before the House to aid Congressman F. H. LaGuardia of New York in his plea for a $625,000 relief appropriation.

FRANKLIN'S GREATNESS

Benjamin Franklin was too long regarded as one of the lesser lights of the American Revolution. In truth, he outshone any of his contemporaries, not excepting Washington, in general all-round ability and intellect. His autobiography should be on the bookshelf, not of every library, but of every home. As an example of courage, modesty and thrift it is unparalleled.

Sentiment is turning toward putting Franklin on the pedestal where properly he belongs. The bankers have seized upon his birthday, January 17, as an opportunity for an annual thrift propaganda.

And a good thing, too. Thrift is the one thing Americans have to learn if they hope to keep up the high standard of living. "A penny saved is a penny earned," was a saying of Franklin's that has become a classic, and never was a truer one.

One should not overlook, however, the more inspiring things about this printer's apprentice who became great. He walked with kings and talked with nobles, and they did him honor. He brought to America respect in Europe at a time when a more volatile ambassador to France might have worked serious injury to the cause of the Revolution. Let us by all means honor Franklin. But more than that let us not forget Franklin the great.

Solomon must have been shrewd wise. He managed to be the richest man on earth without being investigated.

It isn't hard now to recall that France paid her debts pretty promptly when the German army was camping on her soil.

MAKE 1933 A SAFE YEAR

A publication of the National Safety Council carries an excellent New Year wish: "Three hundred and sixty-five safe and happy days to you for 1933."

If that wish could bear fruit, it would be a magnificent thing for the country. It would save thousands of lives which would otherwise be needlessly destroyed—it would keep for useful purposes the billion or so dollars that is wasted annually through accidents—it would make for happier and better working conditions, and more efficient industries. Nothing is so destructive to the morale of the worker as a series of serious accidents in his plant.

The safety movement has been making good progress for a long time. There has been a general decrease in the number and severity of accidents—aside from those caused by automobiles.

The careless, reckless and irresponsible driver kills about 33,000 people a year nowadays.

We can make 1933 the greatest safety year in our time. We can do it by giving the little effort, the little thought, the little care, that is needed to make our homes, our places of business and the public highways safer. We can do it by giving consideration to the rights of the other fellow. As individuals we have the power to save thousands of irreplaceable lives this year. Let's do it!

Cactus Cal

And "Cactus Cal" is reborn. Seems like quite a spell since I wuz here with this bunch of kids. In fact, there air some that I don't know. Gee, boys, there shure air a smear of good lookin' gals here now.

This here new guy, Mr. Terry, youall got here tells me that the seventh grade boys won the intramural championship of the whole dog-goned school. Wal, that beats me. I wonder what the seniors, sophomors, and fish think about the lickin' they got at the hands of the seventh graders. Let me tell you smethin', since the seventh grade has beat everybody, I hope they give them thar Eagles a thorough skinnin', Wednesday night. Coach Barksdale told me that the Eagles didn't even win a game this last season and I shure don't want the seventh graders to ruin sich a wonderful rep.

Say, will some of you guys tell me what these here red and black shirts mean? I wuz jist a wonderin' if it weren't some kinda' fraternity are smethin' or tuther, but there ain't none of them thar things in a high schule like Canyon's.

Honest friends, Mr. Carruth is jist like he was two or three years ago. Still jist as nice as he can be. In fact he seemed more jolly or smethin'. Guess its the way that Bruce of his'n makes him toe the mark or smethin'.

Well folks, I shure have enjoyed bein' with you all and if you like fur me to write a piece in your paper I might jist keep a tryin' to do so fer youall. If any of you at any time have anything to ask me about anything else jist write yore questions on a piece of paper and sign yore name and leave it with that thar English teacher that has her room so close to Mr. Terry's office.

Thanx fur yore time.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

To those who believe that education should give the greatest good for the greatest number, it is gratifying to review the activities program of the high school thus far during the second semester.

The intramural basketball tournament has occupied the active participation of more students than any other phase of athletics during the year. Five teams of boys with ten or more boys training for each team makes a total of more than 60. The boys of the regular squad have acted as coaches and helpers. With a similar number of girls playing, the interest has been very keen. The period of training has not been long, nor has it been so intense as to carry the danger of over-training.

Other phases of the activity program include band, orchestra, one-act play, spelling, declamation, extemporaneous speech, debate and special assembly programs. Recently two of the girls won cups at a tournament held in Amarillo. The fact that during the last half of school so many boys and girls are turning their attention to literary, musical, and dramatic ac-

Intramural Champs Take on Eagles Wednesday Night

The winners of the intramural basketball tournament were determined Friday night by two good games between the sophomore and junior girls, and freshmen and seventh grade boys.

The sophomore girls won by a score of 19 to 10, with Arnetta Kirkpatrick as high point player. Bill Price did excellent work as both center and forward; Marie Price played well as guard.

The high point junior forward was Helen Hardeman; Ellen Hicks played well at center.

The final score of the boys' game was in favor of the seventh grade, a score of 25 to 20.

Benson Clouch, high point seventh grade forward, took 9 points to his credit; Thomas Harris, substitute freshman forward, had honors with 5 points. Wesley Cox, freshman guard, played a good game on both the offense and defense.

The winners of the intramural contest will play the regular Eagle team Wednesday afternoon.

List of Assembly Programs Completed By Student Council

A series of assembly programs have been arranged to be presented this semester by the different clubs and classes of the high school.

- March 1. Band program.
- March 8. Science.
- March 15. Math.
- March 23. Sing Song.
- March 29. Speech program.
- April 5. Law.
- April 12. Home Ec. program.
- April 19. Press Club program.
- April 26. S. P. Q. R. program.
- May 3. Boys' Athletic Club.
- May 10. Open date.

Assembly programs should be both educational and inspirational.

tivities is excellent indication that the high school is not developing one side only of the boys and girls who come here. On the other hand, the greatest effort is being made to insure that each student here will find a place where he can secure the greatest permanent values for his own life.

Tuesday at the activity period Mr. Barksdale met all the boys in the school to lay before them the plans for the intramural track meet. The students were organized into two groups, the juniors and seniors. The girls' volleyball practice met for the first time Monday afternoon in the grade school gymnasium.

Mr. Ernest Cabe returned to his school work Monday after a trip to Austin.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

There'll Be a Giant Cheer, Brooklyn Will Get the Bird and St. Louis the Blues if the Cards Release Vance to the Terrys

BY PHILIP MARTIN

BEING a hodge-podge of sports events:

The Brooklyn Dodgers may regret that trading of Dazzy Vance to the St. Louis Cardinals, and the New York Giants may hail the swap with glee before long. The reason is that the Giants may acquire the old fire-ball artist.

When the deal was made between the Dodgers and Cardinals, the Giants didn't figure in it at all. The Cards got the Dazzler for Pitcher Owen Carroll and infielder Jake Flowers, and thereby relieved the Brooklyn management of a difficult situation—cutting Vance's salary again.

It might have paid the Brooklyn club to hold Dazzy on at his last year's salary. The Flatbush hurler had a following in Brooklyn and all through the National League circuit that brought lots of dough into the club coffers.

But now that the deal has been made, the scene switches to the Giants' camp, where the Terrys are figuring to cash in on Dazzy's Gotham following.

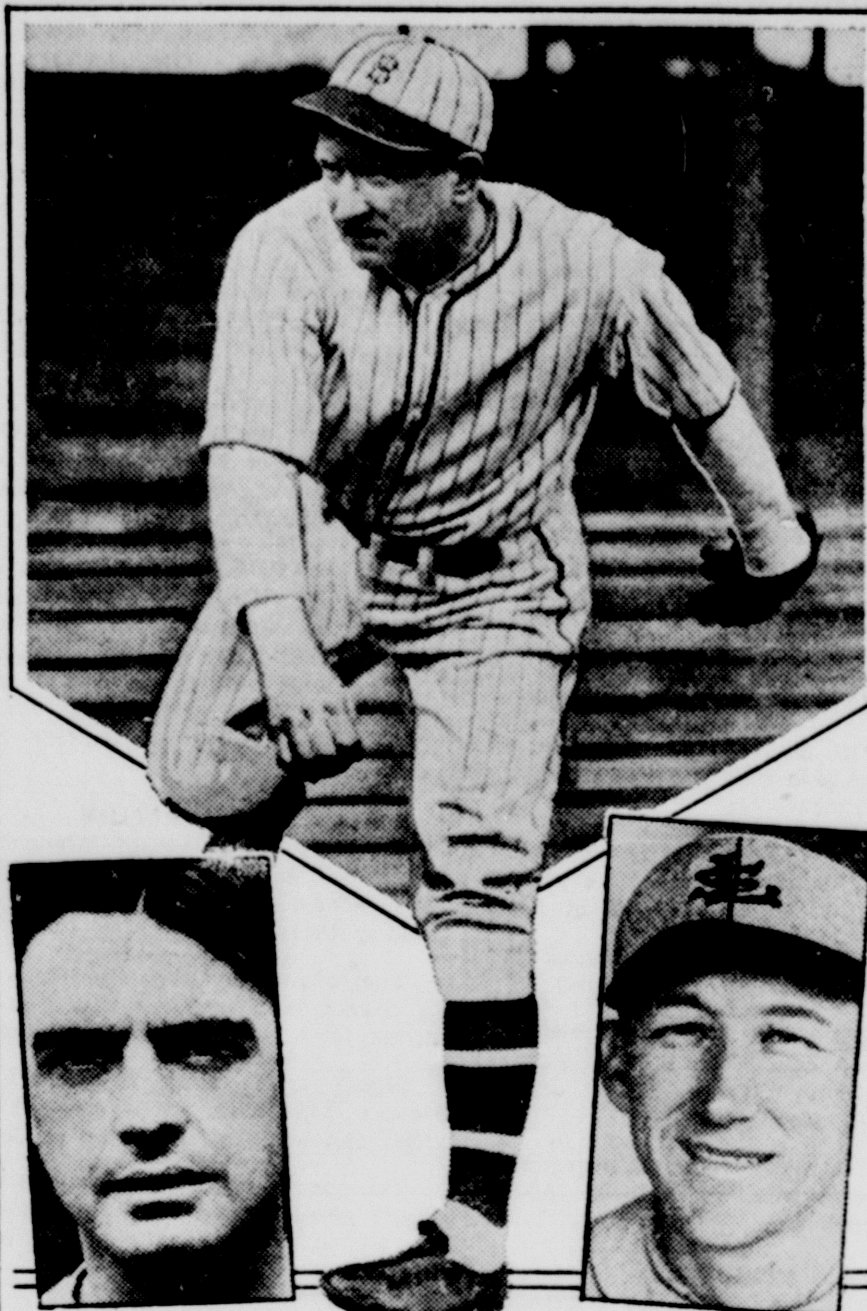

The reason for the guess that Vance is going to the Giants is that the Cardinals are overloaded with pitchers, and good ones too. Bill Terry has remarked that he is in need of a pitcher of Dazzy's calibre, and you can look for the deal any day now.

WHEN the football season is ushered in, you'll find four old coaching faces in new pastures, and one youngster who is stepping up into big league competition.

The four familiar faces are those of Amos Alonzo Stagg, the grand old Chicago mentor, who takes up a post at the College of the Pacific; Clark Shaughnessy, former Loyola of New Orleans coach, who succeeds Stagg at Chicago; Jim Crowley, new Fordham coach who was Michigan State's tutor for the past few seasons; and Charley Bachman, head of the University of Florida gridirers last season, who succeeds Crowley at Michigan State.

The new face is that of Dennis Stanley, 26-year-old high school coach, who takes the helm Bachman left at Florida. Stanley is a graduate of the Gator institution, and will have an all-alumni staff of assistants.

WE come to the strange case of two baseball players who are in the big leagues for the first time—Ted Gullic, of the St. Louis Browns, and Bill Knickerbocker, of the Cleveland Indians.

Both boys, without any big league experience, are already holdouts. When Master Gullic received his contract from the Browns, he immediately returned it, unsigned, with the remark that he was being offered less money than he received when playing for Milwaukee, in the American Association, last season.

Knickerbocker, who advanced to the American Association in Toledo, in 1930, slept under the grandstand of the Mud Hens his first year up until the time he received his first pay envelope.

Evidently Master Knickerbocker has learned a lot, for he refuses to make the same sacrifice to break into the majors.

"Pioneer's Papoose" To Be Presented Here Tonight

An operetta, "Pioneer's Papoose" sponsored by the Pep Squad, will be presented Thursday night at eight o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The admission will be 15 and 25 cents.

Nell Slaton Wins In First Year Essay Contest

Each year at the local high school there is held a Latin essay contest for first and second year Latin students. The winners in each division are allowed to have their essays sent to Waco to the Latin tournament headquarters to be entered in the district tournament.

Last year Fredda Charles Bills' essay won first place in the first year division of the contests at Waco. This year her essay won first place in the second year contests at the high school. In the first year contest, Nell Slaton won first place, Lorene Bessire, second place and Louise Ashby third place. Fredda Charles' and Nell's essays will represent the District Tournament in Waco.

Ex-Students

Going back to the years when Canyon High School was just beginning to thrive, we find that Mrs. Bertha Wallace Rhoades and Mrs. Dixon Lair Davis graduated in 1904.

Mr. J. P. Hix is the only graduate of C. H. S. of 1905 who now lives in Canyon.

In 1907 we find Mrs. Avis Baird Flesher, Robert Rowan, and Mrs. Ada Rowan Dowd.

The only person that graduated in 1909, now living in Canyon is Mrs. Grace Winkleman Warwick.

Those who live in Canyon now who graduated in 1913 are Martha Pearl Black, Ralph Ernest Harter, Jessie Ernest Hicks and Clarence Thompson.

HONESTY

Many great men are noted for their honesty. George Washington is an outstanding example of this desirable trait. The story of George and the cherry tree incident is often told by parents to erring children in the attempt to instill into them the importance of this sterling quality.

One who is honest is trustworthy, candid, frank, and sincere. It is one characteristic that everyone wishing to succeed in life should acquire.

Most of all we need to practice honesty in school. We are afforded many opportunities to be dishonest and often it is very hard to keep from cheating on an examination. If we form a strong enough habit of honesty we can follow the "straight and narrow" path more easily.

Mrs. J. D. Barker has been the instructor of public school music in Canyon Public School since 1927, with the exception of one year when she taught in Amarillo. The aim of her work is to acquaint the students with good music and help them learn to enjoy and appreciate it.

After graduating from the high school at Lancaster, Texas, Mrs. Barker enrolled in the department of music at the Southern Methodist University. She was interested in Athletics of all kinds, especially basketball and hiking. She played run center on the senior team which won the intramural tournament in her last year. In the spring of 1927 she received two degrees, Bachelor of Music and Bachelor of Public Music.

She is a member of the National Honorary Athletic Society, Delta Phi Kappa, and the National Honorary Music Society, Mu Phi Epsilon.

Mrs. Barker's hobbies are playing the pipe organ and taking and collecting snap shots.

Canyon Debaters Lose To Pampa; Win from Amarillo

Friday, Olton is bringing two teams who will debate Joe Collins, Marvin Calliham, Kathryn Robinson and Laura Fern Brian.

All of the teams have their schedules full for the next two weeks.

Gift Committee

The senior committee on Class Gift for this year is Louise Wester, chairman, Leonard Brasuel and Margery Tankersley. The class plans to present the school with a gift that will last on through the years, something that the whole student bodies of the future can enjoy with equal pleasure, and something that the school needs badly.

The Senior Carnival is scheduled for about April 1st, and the Senior play for about May 1st.

Dramatic Club Gives Program In Assembly

The assembly Wednesday was entertained by a few sketches from the play "Beads on a String," presented by the Zita school. It was under the direction of Miss Birda Ann Hastings, an ex-student of Canyon High.

The Dramatics Club presented a patriotic program during the remainder of the period.

The program consisted of "The Making of the American Flag," by Irene Thompson and Eulalie Moore; a reading, "Washington's Essays," by Athalie Overton; and a Colonial dance by Dora Mae Plaster, Maxine Middleton, Wilma Harris, Edith Steen, Mable Schmitz and Lela Hickox. Mary Mae Harrison furnished music on the piano for both the play and the dances.

Thursday night the senior class enjoyed a weenie roast at the home of Mr. G. W. Cox. The group met at the high school building at seven o'clock and were taken to the creek west of the house.

Several out-of-door games were played; then the students grouped themselves around the bonfire to roast weenies and marshmallows which were eaten with pickles, buns, and fruit. Later three groups gave dramatizations. Songs were sung and the group departed.

Several invited juniors attended.

Two new tennis courts are being built in preparation for the coming contests. The courts are being given a caliche base and covered with gravel.

Would You Do This With Milk?

When the milk man brings the morning's milk, do you at once step to the sink and pour out a portion of it? Certainly not!

THEN WHY WASTE NATURAL GAS?

The various gas cocks, fittings and piping on your premises may not be gas tight and can frequently waste a large amount of gas in a year through leakage.

With the Bunsen type of blue flame burner, a showing of red or yellow in the flame is an indication of imperfect combustion and therefore waste.

Rooms are more healthful if kept at about 70 degrees F., with proper humidity, yet much gas is wasted by keeping room temperatures higher.

Heat radiated into furnace rooms from the furnace, the furnace piping, and hot water and steam piping does not enter the room that is to be heated and therefore is wasted. Proper insulating of furnace piping will greatly curtail this loss. In any gas heating device the temperature of the combustion products where they go into the chimney has an important bearing on heat loss.

Improper adjustment of appliances resulting in imperfect combustion is a waste.

Water that precipitate scale or sediment will frequently build up a thick coating on the inside of the water heater over point of flame contact and greatly increase the amount of gas necessary to heat the water.

Turning on gas to a point where the flame goes over the top in open top space heaters wastes gas.

While we can not regulate the amount of gas that you use, we do urge you to take care that your consumption does not exceed your actual needs. Satisfied customers constitute our best asset. They are worth more to us than any revenue derived from gas which is wasted.

Californians Waver and Buffs Take Early Lead to Win Easily

Fortenberry Big Shot of Game as Makes 18 Points

SCORE 42 TO 30

In doing a swan-song for the home fans here Saturday night, the Buffaloes out-passed, out-dribbled, and out-shot the Pasadena, California, Majors, national title aspirants, to win a one night stand with the Californians, 42-30.

It was far and away the worst defeat suffered by the visitors this season. They are now on their way to the National Tournament at Kansas City where it is possible the two teams will meet again.

Although Giant Joe Fortenberry, individual star of the game and high point man of the evening with 18, divided the tip-off about evenly with Ace Lubin, darling of the Pasadena outfit, the Buffaloes' superiority was manifested from the opening whistle. Burk, hustling Buffalo guard, went out several minutes before the first half ended on personal fouls to be replaced by Richards, equally alert on the defense. Shortly after the last half opened, with the score 36-15 for the West Texans, Coach Burton sent in his reserves to replace every first stringer except Fortenberry.

The Majors took advantage of the substitutions and advanced their cause with admirable fortitude, Merrill dropping three long shots in the closing minutes of play to make the game appear more closely contested than it actually was.

Comer, Buff forward who has been more or less erratic this year in his shooting, made several spectacular shots to share the spotlight with Colvin. Their scores were 8 and 9 respectively. Stroud's expert guarding was largely responsible for holding the Majors to a minimum score during the first half.

Past play, passing, and attempted lengthy control of the ball made the game appear top-notch in every respect despite the one-sided score.

It was the Buffaloes' last appearance in Buffalo Gym this year. The team traveled to Lubbock yesterday afternoon for a two game series with Texas Tech, the first being played last night. Coach Burton will lead the squad to Kansas City Friday where W. T. will be represented at the National A. A. U. Tournament starting next week.

Letter From Mrs. Phebe K. Warner Encouraging W. T.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Hill received a letter last week from Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, one of Texas' greatest living women, at Muskogee, Okla., where she is at the bedside of her husband, Dr. W. A. Warner, a patient in the Veterans Hospital there, in which she states that Dr. Warner's recovery now seems assured. He has been confined to his bed for several weeks.

Mrs. Warner, candidate for congressman-at-large from West Texas last year, has been an ardent supporter of this institution since her entrance into public affairs a number of years ago.

In her letter she states: "Don't worry, Mr. Hill. The West Texas State Teachers College will never be sacrificed. The last one of us will vote to secede before we will give up our one State College in the Texas Panhandle. What made the other sections of our state grow? It was the establishment of educational institutions within their territory. No other one institution has done so much to bring higher standards of living and higher ideals of mind and soul to our people than the influence of West Texas State Teachers College on us all, men, women, and children."

"West Texas State Teachers College has always been liberal with its time and talent. You have divided the very best in your minds and spirits with every humble home and pioneer community in your territory and the people will not forget. When this tragic economic storm has passed over and a few selfish individuals have discovered they can no longer rule and use the masses of the common people to promote their own selfish interests there will be no regrets as to the fate of the West Texas State Teachers College. It will be standing right there in the midst of one of the most loyal people in America, in all its primitive beauty and simplicity, and stronger than ever in its consciousness of the eternal hold it has on the hearts of its students, its alumni, its patrons, its supporters, and all the people it serves."

Get Trimmed Hats for That Trim Look

FEATHER. BOW. PIN. BOUQUET OR RIBBON BAND. WHATEVER IS USED, MUST BE TASTEFUL COMPLEMENT OF HAT

BY HARRIET

NO hat this spring comes undorned. It is not modish to have a hat without trimming which gives it character.

But a word of warning is in order. Trimming, worthy of the name, is so well designed for the hat that one complements the other. Just any feather, bow or pin stuck in any spot on your chapeau will not do. It must lend itself to the glamour and beauty of the hat just as accessories complete and add to rather than detract from a smart costume.

There is no question that the right pert bow or a casual, exotic feather fancy can make a drab, uninteresting hat into something out of a story book. Not that you are limited to feathers and bows because fashion forecasts for spring hats show you that demure bouquets, bands of colorful ribbons and all manner of decorative pins and clips are much in evidence too.

There are three important types of hats right now. First, the little hat, still shallow of crown; second, the deep-crowned, high hat with practically no brim; third, the mannish mode with varieties of the fedora. Nearly every style of hat is worn down farther on the forehead and at a straighter angle across the eyes. A fourth, and more specialized kind, is the picture hat.

At the recent Retail Millinery Association fashion show there was a marked absence of the fedora and other mannish hats which promised to be so popular last month. There were more fezes or sailors and the general trend was toward feminine apparel both in hats and the clothes modeled with them.

A little toque made entirely of flat, colorful, velvet flowers struck a new note. Picture hats had larger brims, low and graduated crowns higher in back and were less floppy than formerly.

Knitted versions of straw threaten to overshadow fabric hats although earlier forecasts gave fabrics—linen, cotton, silk and faille—the preference.

THE smart arrow stuck jauntily in the side of a crepe net version of the straw hat emphasizes the importance of correct decoration on a chapeau.

The hat is a high-in-the-back model with a narrow brim worn almost straight across the eyes. This style especially compliments the sophisticated woman. Worn with a black dress which has white applique design on the shoulders, black shoes, white gloves and a black and white and red ornament, nothing could be smarter.

Notice the absence of jewelry on the girl wearing the hat. It is an important consideration this year when all the world seems costume-jewelry-mad. But it is a thought worth considering if you are going to wear a conspicuous ornament on your hat. Often, too much jewelry detracts from the glamour of a hat and almost obliterates its gay little trimming.

A corduroy effect has been attained by the fascinating tucking of the cellophane straw across the crown from side to side.

Bright taffeta, tartan checked ribbon trims the second hat of knitted cellophane straw. It begins at the front, under the brim, follows the line of the hat to the center of the back and ends in a pert bow. A brimmed hat is always youthful and almost any woman over thirty needs at least one for the days when she isn't feeling quite up to the nakedness of one without a brim.

"BOOKLET" OUT ON EDUCATION CRISIS TODAY

PUBLISHED BY EX-STUDENTS WHO ANSWER QUESTIONS OF POPULACE.

"More Fact About Education in Texas," is the title of a booklet issued recently by the Ex-Students Association dealing directly and convincingly with all the main issues in current proposals to revolutionize higher education in Texas.

The booklet was prepared under the direction of Irby Carruth, president of the Association, and Dr. J. A. Hill, president of W. T., and is being distributed over West Texas in order that citizens may be armed with facts as they face the present educational crisis.

The authors of the pamphlet list eighteen questions on issues that have been brought up by people who are in favor of curtailing or abolishing the Teachers College system in Texas and discusses each point clearly and concisely.

Valuable and reliable statistics are presented which show that the economies proposed by the Board of Education and the Committee on Economy and Efficiency are in reality not economy, but fall in the area of extravagance and waste.

Furthermore it shows how such propositions are contrary to the principles of democracy and the evolution of the principle of public education.

There is a time for everything except at times when things pile up too fast.

BUFF STARS OFF TO K. C. END OF WEEK

Burton Taking Ten Men To Cope With Country's Best Cage Squads

STARTS MARCH 6

Feeling Prevails That W.
T. Has Good Chance to Win National Crown

Coach Sad Sam Burton will leave Friday for Kansas City with the Buffalo basketball team, which has been entered in the National A. A. U. basketball tournament which will open next Monday. The tournament will continue until March 12th when the final game will be played and the national winner named for 1933.

The length of the Buffaloes' sojourn in the big city depends upon their showing there. Unless eliminated they will not return to the campus before March 14.

Following are the men Burton proposes to take:

Stroud, Fortenberry (captain) Comer, Burk, Colvin, Richards, Williams, Walker, Morris, and Monroe.

Coach Burton was reticent about discussing the Buffs' chances of taking the national title, but said that his boys were in 50% better shape for tournament play than they were last year when eliminated by the S. K. S. L. team of Wichita, Kans., in the second round of play. They defeated the dreaded Kansas City Athletic Club in their first game.

Such teams as the Brown Paper Mills, Monroe, La., the Tulsa Oilers, Tulsa, Okla., the Henry's, Wichita, Kans., and the Reno Creamery, Hutchinson, Kans., are teams from the Middle West which, according to the Big Coach, are going to be hard to beat. Crack teams from the East and South-east will be in competition. But, after a successful home season, the feeling prevails that the Buffalo squad will have more than an even chance to win or at least make an excellent showing at the tourney.

It is possible that a representative of the Globe-News of Amarillo, either Jerry Malin, Sports Editor, or Wes Izzard, staff member, will accompany the team.

The squad will make the trip in the college bus assigned to the Athletic Department.

Contrary to rumors, no games have been scheduled for the local squad, either on the trek to Kansas City or on the return voyage.

not in any sense charity advances. They are considered in a strictly business-like manner by the loan office and are intended to help those farmers who cannot secure credit to continue operations and are willing to reduce their acreage of cash crops. Borrowers this year will be required to pay filing fees on mortgages and notary fees on applications.

upon her head by the Master of Ceremonies.

The formal nature of the Coronation with the impressive gestures so finely attuned to regal customs and procedure gave an air of royalty to the entire proceedings.

Her Majesty announced a program for her "subjects" following the presentation to her of the royal sceptre. The Galle dancing team, Gene and Madelin, entertained both court and audience with dance numbers of a formal theme. Vernon Twaddell, talented Amarillo baritone, closed the brief program with two romantic songs taken from classical court scenes.

Jehol, Prize in Sino-Jap Conflict, Once Playground of Manchu Emperors

DISTURBED by the distant crackle of machine-guns, the hum of warplanes and the echoes of far-away barrage, Jehol, one-time "playground" of Manchu emperors and world capital of magnificence and splendor, sits amid her crumbling ruins to assume another important world role—that of prize in the Sino-Japanese hostilities.

Coveted by Japan as the "key to China" and a means of consolidating their Manchurian gains, Jehol Province is expected to provide the opening scene of the most extensive Far-Eastern conflict since the Russo-Japanese War of 1905. And when the smoke has cleared, the glamorous, checked career of "Jehol, City of Emperors," may have become more colorful than ever.

Jehol Province, of which Chengteh (Jehol City) is the capital, is roughly that egg-shaped chunk of Inner Mongolia lying nearest the sea. The top end is a wedge between Mongolia proper and Southern Manchuria; its western boundary the Khingan Mountain range; and its eastern border a series of indefinite hills, leveling off into the Manchurian plains. More than 500 miles long and 300 wide, Jehol Province is about the size of one of our larger states.

A million or so people inhabit the "bad lands," which, except for a few rich oases, make up the Province. The Jehol town people are miserably poor, even more so than the peasants, who make a scant living by growing cheap cereals and raising goats. Goats, it seems, can be driven into the mountains upon news of the approach of bandit hordes, but sheep, which the peasants formerly raised, could not. Bandit depredations likewise prevented the peasants from having any beasts of burden.

A few powerful Mongol chieftains survive in North Jehol; but nearly half the population comprise hardy Chinese immigrants, who refuse to be crushed by oppression. The other half is made up of servile descendants of Manchu and Chinese retainers and slaves who once kept the palaces which the Manchu emperors built for their amusement around Chengteh.

HISTORY relates that Ka'ing-hsi, most wise and noble "Son of Heaven," aspired to build a temple-city that, by its magnificence, would make the world bow in awe. Selecting Jehol City for its site, Ka'ing-hsi poured an incredible fortune into the undertaking. It was his grandson, Chien-lung, who put the final brilliant finishing touches on his kin's project. When completed, Jehol City was a garden spot of unspeakable beauty and splendor. Within its confines were Below is a map of Jehol Province, Japan's goal in furthering her Manchurian plans. The map shows the location of Chengteh (Jehol City), one-time "summer resort" of Manchu royalty. Above is Jehol City's famous temple, Potola, the glories of which were reproduced at the Chicago Exposition of Progress.

But, with the passing of the Manchus, misfortune overtook Jehol City. It became a nest for the bandits from the nearby Manchurian plains, and its glittering beauties, uncared for, slowly decayed. A prominent archaeologist, after some recent research work in the City of Emperors, predicted that within the next decade or two Jehol City would crumble to the ground, to resemble once more the barren Tartary plain it was before the advent of Ka'ing-hsi.

But the near future will decide whether some of her ancient prestige will be restored to Jehol City, to appease the spirits of the Royal Manchus who departed and worshipped there.

Along with her 18-month-old baby sister in their isolated farm house near Killdeer, N. MOUNTAINS COMPARED TO AN ANT-HILL

Back in 1928 certain political observers forecast that power was to become the principal issue of the time.

It flourished for a bit in that campaign, and then was obscured by other issues. Four years passed. Again, in the days before the nominations, effort was made to put power back into the limelight. Again it found some mention. And again it died. The real economic issues of the 1932 campaign, hanging as they did on tariffs, unemployment and taxation, dwarfed it.

Mr. Average Citizen has known for a long time that power is not of very great importance, as a crying public problem. Electricity contributes much of life and happiness but its cost is so minor that it becomes lost in the average family budget. Besides it, taxes (which are a "real" political issue), rent, food and similar major items loom like mountains beside an ant-hill.

The interest the average citizen does take in power is this—he favors whatever equitable regulation is necessary to protect the consumer and investor. And that is exactly what every foremost power executive favors.

Power is not the political problem that many would like to make it.

Our bet is that the youths who are so smart that they can pass anything on the road were so dumb in school they couldn't pass examinations.
